It is a contrivance that is loaded with charcoal and sulphur, and the fumes are conducted into the holes by means of a hose which means instan-taneous death to the pests. YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

A Colt Burned to Death and a Close Call From a Serious Aceident.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm was sent in from Eighth avenue, a fire having broken out in a stable in the rear of T. E. Ward's residence. Before the alarm was given the flames had gained good headway, and the efforts of a bucket brigade were devoted to saving the residence, which was threatened with destruction. The hose cart reached the scene and had a stream on the flames before the fire was over. The loss includes a valuable mare colt, and the stable and its contents were reduced to ashes. There was no insurance, and the origin of the fire is un-

A Mr. Bostwick gave the alarm, and he worked fully ten minutes before he succeeded in making it operate. The hose cart was mounted by Wm. Greenwalt with the engineer at the tail end. The old horse, who understands his business, having done who understands his business, having done service in this capacity for seven years, was hitched and came dashing down Main street in a jiffy. When Warren street was reached, and while the faithful horse was going at full speed, some man suddenly jumped in front of the horse, throwing up his hands, at the same time directing Greenwalt to a hydrant which he thought was closer to the fire. The driver turned closer to the fire. The driver turned while the horse was at full speed, but the short turn result-d disastrously. The horse was thrown over on his back, while Greenwalt was thrown to the ground, his back striking first, and the cart was overturned, barely escaping crushing the life out of the young man. The engineer was thrown off but escaped injury. The old horse, which had been in such a fix before, did not create much of a disturbance, and Greenwalt crawled out from under the cart and assisted the horse to his feet, and after the cart had been righted the young man mounted his seat, but was too badly hurt to proceed. He was taken to his room, where a physician examined him and found that no bones were broken, but his spine and parts of his body were so bruised that he will not be able to respond to a fire alarm for several days.

"Our fashionable ladies used to send their money east for their millinery, but I believe in keeping the money at home, so I went to New York city and employed a No 1 milliner and then have first-class goods shipped every week, so my stock is kept nice and fresh with all the latest nov-elties as fast as they appear in the market, and the result is what you see, these same David Ruth,

RACING MATTERS.

Review of Events Interesting to Montana Admirers of the Noble Animal, The Horse.

Larabie & Eastman's Three-Year Old Colt, Spokane, Mentioned for the Kentucky Derby.

A Report That a Fast Trotter Has Bee Purchased for Montana and That His Name Will Be Changed.

The opening of the racing season in the east and west is full of interest to Montanians, and the results of each day are eagerly watched by the thousands who daily expect to hear of some favorite son of the Montana turf bringing laurels to the territory. In this the people have not been disappointed. At Nashville a few days ago Deer Lodge shoved his nose first under the wire in a five-eighths dash in 1:04 against a strong field. Deer Lodge is the property of S. E. Larabie and Mr. Eastman, a prominent eastern turfman, who is the partner of Mr. Larabie in racing stock. Another piece of welcome news was the performance of Spokane at Memphis, who came in second. In this race Spokane was not put in to win, but it was the general impression he could have done so. This horse belongs to the Montana stable owned by Armstrong, Hundley & Preuitt. Spokane is a very likely one for the great Kentucky Derby in which Proctor Knott is entered. Horsemen speak very highly of Spokane and say he is the finest looking three-year-old on the turf. The Chicago Horseman has the following about the Kentucky Derby and the probable winners, in which, if Proctor Knott should not start. Spokane heads the list of probable start, Spokane heads the list of probable winners:

"On Thursday, May 9, the Louisvillmeeting will open, and on that date the classic Kentucky Derby will be run. The nominations, with the exception of Proctor Knott, are not up to the high standard of past, but that state of affairs will occasionally happen with the most popular stake races, and the great English Derby is no exception to the rule. The question of the exception to the rule. The question of the day is will Proctor Knott start. His own r has publicly declared that he will not, bu there appears to be a decided impression among many Kentucky turfites that he will reconsider his determination and go in for wanning the great Kentucky race. Should Proctor Knott start, the field will probably be small, and speculation will be exceed-ingly limited, as the result, will be leveled ingly limited, as the result will be looked upon as a foregone conclusion. While the public form of Procwhile the public form of Proctor Knott would justify this opinion, it must be borne in mind that this race has been prolific in surprises, and that rank outsiders have often defeated very hot favorites. In 1882 Runnymede started an even favorite against the field, but he was defeated by Apollo, mutuals paying on the defeated by Apollo, mutuals paying on the latter $169. In 1884 Audrian and Bob Miles sold in front of the winner, Buchanan, and mutuals paid $20.60. In 1885 and 1886 Joe Cotton and Ben Ali won, and they were both favorites, but in 1887 Mont-rose was the most despised outsider in a field of seven, starting at 15 to 1. In 1888 Macbeth II. won with the odds of 8 to 1 against him. So that during the past seven against him. So that during the past seven years the favorites have only won three times, and in the cases of Apollo and Montrose they were the rankest outsiders in the race. If Proctor Knott does start, it is not a certainty that he will win, but if he is an absentee the stake should command a fair field, and the race will be of a very open character. The prominent nominations are Spokane, Come to Taw, Castaway II, Brown Princess, Kasson, Heron, Hindeocraft, Sportsman, The Lioness, Bootmaker and Once Again. We hope the historic meeting on Churchill Downs will receive a strong support from

Riverside Farm.

The extensive purchase of trotting stock made recently by Montana breeders, and more especially that of Mascot, Favonia and Prodigal, turn the attention of the public to that country lying between Dapublic to that country lying between Da-kota and Idaho, which is adapted by nature as a great grazing land. This, together with the great mineral resources of the state, has made breeding popular, and the production of the trotter is rapidly super-seding all other industries of a similar nature. Athong the pioneers in this field Huntley & Clarke, whose farm is at Tos-ton, forty-two miles east of Helena, are the most prominent. Their catalogue contains the breeding of one hundred and twenty-

A Site Purchasedfor That Purpose, and an Industrial School.

Rev. William Passavant, of Pittsburg, Pa., who is well known over the United States by his efforts in charitable works, will do for Helena what he has done for other cities, notably Milwaukee, where he established a hospital which bears his name and which is considered one of the best institutions of the kind in the country. Yesterday Mr. Passavant purchased of Henry Miller and wife a tract of land for an orphans' home and industrial school, to be erected in the future. The property purchased consist of 676 acres of land, with water-rights, farm implements, horses, stock and buildings, and the purchase price was $9,000. It is situated on the old Spokane read, north of the Half-Way house, kane read, north of the Haif-Way house, east of Helena.

Mr. Passavant is acting as the trustee of the Lutheran church and the property purchased will be used by his church for the purposes named, though the home and school will be non-sectarian, receiving wards of all clases and religious belief. A manual training school will be connected with the asylum and it is the intention of the promoters to have an institution whereby the youth under charge will receive training that will fit them to be useful members of society. Mr. Passavant announced before departing for the west yesterday where he goes to continue his missionary labors, that the institution will be opened to the public in the near future. While here Mr. Passavant purchased a site for a Lutheran church on Ewing street. His christianity is of the practical kind and he never visits a place without it kind and he never visits a place without it being benefited by his visit.
